Welcome to the virtual edition of the Congress of the Italian Federation of Life Sciences (FISV) on SARS-CoV-2 Biology and COVID-19: current research and perspectives", which will take place online on September 16, 2020.

Internationally renowned scientists from Italy and abroad will present their research on six different interdisciplinary topics, including from viral evolution, life cycle and structure, virus-host cell interactions, markers of diagnosis and pathology, as well as adaptive immunity and vaccines and drug treatment approaches. Six short talks will be selected from the submitted abstracts and aligned with the topics of our invited speakers. The two best abstracts will be awarded a prize from FISV and the participating sponsors.

Participation is free, but make sure to register in time to save your space at the conference!

Deadlines

- Abstract submission to be considered for a short talk or inclusion in the abstract book:
EXTENDED TO 4 September 2020
